WL and WD Jones

It takes a thousand hours to get a horse to the bridle. You can ride a hundred ten hour days, or a thousand one hour days. We have tried cheating this fact in every way. It just takes that long.

There is quite a few bridle horses in this sale. Some ridden a lot more than a thousand hours.

A thousand hours times minimum wage is about $8000.00.

You have got to be an artist to work for that kind of money.

“Ollie” has been my heifer calving horse all winter. Really nice to rope on, quiet in cattle. He’s got a lot of cow, he is excellent in the corrals, and he’s awesome tied off to big cattle if your doctoring. The only thing about Ollie is sometimes for the first 10 minutes or so he will act like a colt and snort at the rockjack as you ride by. It’s all for show and this horse is really, really broke. My 6 yr. old daughter has rode this horse outside and got along good with him.

“Muckledun” has been my number one circle horse for the last 5 years. Huge trot, very smooth to ride, and really easy to get along with. He’s the toughest, most surefooted horse I’ve ever owned. He’s only had one set of shoes in his life. He is good to shoe though. This horse can be turned out for 6 months or a year and he’s always the same. Has never offered to buck.

Good in the branding pen, doctored cattle outside, breakaway roped, good to heel on and has roped horses and bulls. He is in the bridle and has won money competing in ranch rodeos and team roping. Quiet and nice to sort cattle. Used as a pick-up horse at bronc rides. Does not tie, will pull back. Has never bucked, kicked, or bitten. Boogers at things from time to time but not bad. Sometimes needs a bucket of grain to be caught. Weight: 1100 Height: 14.3
